La Jolla Playhouse is currently seeking submissions for:

COAST STARLIGHT
By Keith Bunin
Directed by Tyne Rafaeki
in the Potiker Theatre

Dates:
Rehearsals start – July 16, 2019
First Preview – August 20, 2019
Close – September 15, 2019

Contract: AEA LORT B

San Diego Auditions: February 19 – 20
San Diego Callbacks: February 28
NY auditions: TBD

Please only submit to this notice if you are a San Diego local actor.

Breakdown:
For six strangers aboard The Coast Starlight from Los Angeles to Seattle, California is 1,000 miles of train tracks on which they'll be forced to reckon with the choices they've made and try to chart a possible path forward. Keith Bunin's new commission for La Jolla Playhouse is a smart, comic and compassionate play about our capacity for invention (and re-invention) when life goes off the rails.

All ethnicities encouraged to submit.

T.J.- Early 20s. Friendly, open-hearted, thoughtful, polite, slightly formal, but warm. Working-class. From the country, not the city. Southern or Midwestern. A Navy medic.

Jane - Early to Mid-20s. Garrulous, bubbly, curious, extremely emotionally available, immediately appealing. East coast. The daughter of professors.

Noah - 30s. Scruffy, off-the grid. Not always sociable but never scary, genuinely empathetic. Working-class. Athletic. Takes care of himself. West coast. Well-read.

Liz - 30s/40s. Brash, emotionally sloppy, voluble, opinionated, loud, a fast talker. Working class, from Florida.

Ed - 40s/50s. A suit-and-tie salesman. Cynical, weary, sarcastic, sardonic. Doesn't take very good care of himself. Middle-class. West coast.

Anna - 40s/50s. Soft-spoken, watchful, observant, tender, slightly reserved. Middle-class. West coast.

Auditions will be by invitation only. To submit for COAST STARLIGHT, please send your headshot and resume to auditions@ljp.org. Materials should be sent at an attachment and not embedded in the email.

For more information about La Jolla Playhouse's 2019-2020 Season, please visit www.lajollaplayhouse.org.

Thank you.